MEETING OF BLAIRMORE SCHOOL BOARD

The regular monthly meeting of the Blairmore School Board was held in the school house on Monday evening, November 3rd.

The oath of office, of Capt. W. A. Beebe was read and Mr. L. Dutilleul was elected chairman.

The summary of Dr. Baker's finding in the recent school children's examinations was read and it was decided to have same published.

It was also decided to obtain figures showing the proportions of Grade IV, pupils living east and west of Sixth Avenue.

The secretary was instructed to advertise the evening classes in The Enterprise and to endeavor to secure an enrolment large enough to start classes.

TOWN COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday night, the following members of the council being present: Messrs. Gillis, Montabetti, Ferguson, Patterson and Morgan, and Secretary Wright.

Owing to the absence of Mayor McLeod through sickness, Deputy Mayor Gillis occupied the chair.

The following accounts were paid for payment: L. H. Putnam Estate $50.00; Department of Municipal Affairs $356.83; G. F. Johnson, $15.00; B. Serande $5.00; R. Crayford $51.25; Alberta Government Telephones $12.90; West Canadian Collieries $465.25; Canadian Security Co. $34.63; Ocean Accident Corporation $30.00.

Applications for Fire Chief were received from H. Garrison, A. J. Moroney and R. Crayford, and after considerable discussion, the application of R. Crayford was accepted.

The Auditor's report to September 30th was submitted and accepted.

A letter of acknowledgment was received from Mrs. L. H. Putnam for the Council's expressions of sympathy in her recent bereavement.

Council adjourned.

TEA AND SALE

The Ladies' Aid of the Union Church will hold a Tea and Sale of Needle Work, Home Cooking, Canned Fruit, Pickles, etc., on Wednesday, November 19th, from 2.30 to 6 p.m. at the home of Mrs. J. E. Upton. Proceeds in aid of the Church General Fund.

At a meeting of the executive of the senior hockey club the names of "Red" McLeod and M. G. Rhynas for league referees were submitted to the League Officials for their consideration. The team expects to hold their first practice about Sunday next.

HUNTING TRAGEDY

A sad accident occurred this week, which resulted in the tragic death of Jimmy Nemrava, of Blairmore.

On Monday morning, Jimmy left the house of his brother, Frank, for what was supposed to be a short walk on the hills. He took a gun with him hoping to meet game of some sort. At night when he had failed to return to his home, his brother and friends grew anxious and a search party was organized and were out most of the night, but returned without having solved the mystery. Next morning, Const. Bailey, of the A.P.P., and two young fellows set out on the trail, which had been picked up by the previous searchers, and these stayed on the job all day, travelling about 25 miles, and until about 10 o'clock on Tuesday night when the body of the unfortunate lad was found about four miles south of Blairmore.

Here a tragic discovery was made in the fact that the lad was not only frozen, but had received a bullet wound in the head and had been dead probably twenty-four hours.

The searchers returned to town and reported this find and later the body was brought to Blairmore.

The Coroner, Mr. A. M. Morrison, of Coleman, was notified and after viewing the body and making enquiries, he thought it unnecessary to hold an inquest, as the cause to him and others was evident. It appeared that Jimmy had got on the track of a deer and in following the track was forced to jump a creek and in doing so must have slipped and the gun accidentally discharged, the bullet entering the left eye.

Jimmy Nemrava, who was only 21 years of age, was well known here, having been practically brought up in these parts and the sympathy of the whole community goes out to the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. Nemrava, who some time ago moved to Nelson, B.C., have been notified and will likely arrive here on Thursday or Friday. A brother, Alec, living in Vancouver, will arrive about the same time.

CURLING CLUB MEETING

A very successful meeting of the Blairmore Curling Club was held in the Greenhill Hotel on Wednesday evening and a large number of enthusiastic curlers were present.

The officers for the coming season were elected, as follows: President, Mr. L. W. Clark; Vice President, Mr. J. E. McLeod; Sec.-Treas., Mr. W. Bird.

Skips appointed were Messrs. D. G. Mackenzie, L. W. Clark, J. E. McLeod, J. B. Wilson, J. P. O'Neill, J. Kerr, J. H. Farmer, W. H. Chappell, J. Olivier, L. L. Morgan, W. Bird and J. H. Thomas.

It was decided that the skips should choose their own rinks and to hand in the personnel of same to the secretary as early as possible. It is desired that wherever possible a new curler should be chosen as lead for each rink.

The system of handicapping as used last year will prevail again for this season but will probably be revised from time to time.

The following committees were appointed: Draw and Competition—W. Bird and L. W. Clark. Handicap—J. E. McLeod, H. M. Bennett and J. Kerr. Ice—J. R. Smith, A. R. Granger and J. P. O'Neill.

It might be possible that some of last year's curlers will be overlooked in the choosing of this year's rinks. If these or any new persons desirous of curling will phone the secretary, Mr. Bird, new rinks will be made up. The President and Vice President Competition will commence as soon as the ice is ready so that skips should be sure and phone in their rinks as early as possible.

The Crown's Next Pass Bonspiel will be held in Fernie this year, commencing January 19th, and it is expected that as many rinks as possible from Blairmore will attend.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the officers of last year for their energies put forth to make the previous season such a successful one.

The spirit of the meeting was very enthusiastic and there is no doubt but what the coming season will be a "huntingder."

ARMISTICE CEREMONIES

MARRIED BY COLD WEATHER

Owing to the very cold weather prevailing here on Thanksgiving Day, the Armistice ceremonies were not what the I.O.D.E. and Town Council had planned. However, a large number of citizens faced the weather outside and the cold conditions which prevailed in the opera house and in a fitting way as was possible under the circumstances, the memory of those who gave of their best in the late war was commemorated.

Major Barnard very ably occupied the chair during the meeting and in very well chosen remarks outlined the reason for the gathering of the citizens on that day.

Mr. J. E. Gillis, acting Mayor, gave an address which, although short, fitted in with the occasion and with the feelings of those present.

Rev. W. T. Young also made a few remarks as did Mrs. S. MacKay, acting Regent of the local branch of the I.O.D.E. Each speaker made their remarks as short as possible, as owing to the extreme coldness of the opera house they felt it wrong to keep children and others longer than necessary.

During the afternoon the members of the Union church choir rendered a selection and Mr. J. R. Gresham sang a solo, which items were well received.

The meeting closed with all present joining in the National Anthem.

The Mercury dipped to 12 below in Blairmore on Wednesday morning.

"I lost out with the sky-pilot and Miss Duperov. I would have storm the gate," Brewster concluded regretfully. "About that time appeared this Sergeant Scarle, who then covered as a mining expert. He fell hard for the girl, which is not against him, for there isn't a girl in B. C. than Miss Ruth. I don't know what he thought of the monopoly or what he intended to do when he got into uniform. As you know, the stage robber killed him before he got saddled up."

"What do you make of it yourself?" Brewster shrugged his broad shoulders. "I may be prejudiced. You see, while I lost my first girl, I landed my B. & K. packing contract. I'll say they pay their bills. Hope you won't think I was trying to get into your game by criticizing your camp selection. But I thought you might not know how things stood on Glacier."

Brewster thanked him, then glanced into the river. "Maybe I like the looks of the Cheena," he added.

"Scouting for dredger people," he said. "Brewster made a mistake. He had them cleaning up strong in the Klondike. The Cheena ought to pay for anyone with money enough to put in a hydraulic plant. Remember that Philip Brewster is in the freighter business in case you begin operations. Good luck to you and goodbye for the present."

The sergeant watched Brewster ride across the flat to the main trail; noted that he turned back toward the creek. Evidently the freighter had been riding into to effect, at least, Seymour's release. An obliging individual, Brewster, even if he had given his fat fingers for a good deal of advice about holding back the Mounties.

So Glacier was a closed creek. A guarded "gate" had been swung across its canon mouth. Upon what? Upon Bart Caswell's scolding "richer than gold," he strongly suspected. Perhaps upon the "sergeant's" slaver as well. Seymour was part Irish; he enjoyed passing the impossible—or trying to.

CHAPTER XXII

A Figure Of Speech

Carrying an empty tin pail from his mess outfit, to lend borrowing-crow to his neighborly call, Seymour trudged openly to the mission. This proved to be a sizeable log structure with a cross or belfry which served both as dwelling for the missionary and place for the Indians to worship. It had been up several years, from the dead look of the logs. The outlook was upon Glacier Creek rather than upon the Cheena. A forest of scrubby cedar and fir skirted the back of it, while not far away was that misplaced rock spa which formed one flank of the closed canon.

His coming was announced in chorus by several missionaries chained to individual dog houses in the front yard. The venerable sky pilot himself was at the front door ready to admit him.

"You are welcome, brother—more than welcome," was his greeting. "Your arrival relieves my daughter of the necessity of riding to Gold to as-

DOCTOR ADVISED AN OPERATION

Read Alberta Woman's Experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Provoat, Alberta.—"Perhaps you will remember sending me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound a year ago. I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do much of my housework. I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now I have a bonny baby girl four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial."—Mrs. A. A. ADAMS, Box 64, Provoat, Alberta.

Lachine, Quebec.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound because I suffered with pains in my left side and back and with weakness and other troubles which did not often leave. I was this way about six months and I have taken four bottles of it. I was a very sick woman and I feel so much better I would not be without it. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sensitive Wash. I recommend the medicine to my friends and am willing to use my name as a testimonial."—Mrs. M. W. Koon, 180 Notre Dame St., Lachine, Quebec.

sure us that nothing has happened to you."

"Your control—? I thought I'd met your ideal. Circumstances beyond my control made last night's appointment."

Seymour's excuses were interrupted by the sudden entry, from what seemed to be the kitchen, of Moira, a radiant surprise in her dress, who sprang below the hem of which showed her riding boots, testimony that he, not the blond Ruth, had been about to ride to his rescue.

"When—" was all he was able to say as he reached out for both her hands.

"Last night's stage?" To think that you and I, Ruth, had met me all about how finely you've taken hold of the situation!"

"And Miss Ruth—where is she?" he asked.

"She's had a hard blow in the death of a man she had come to trust. Isn't it enough—glad enough that I'm here, Sergeant Scarle? I know you must be hungry after that long ride from town. In a minute and a half—"

Seymour reassured her, telling of the precaution he had taken to cover his visit by establishing camp near by. He pointed to the bucket. "Anyone seeing me here with this, sure?" he must at least be a neighbor, don't you think? Already I've been spotted as a scout for a while on this outfit with designs on the Cheena."

"Then, brother, if you'll pardon me, I'll wait until you can add the Missionary. 'I'm engaged in a vital work—nothing less than the translation of the wall decorations of the temple into leave all temporal affairs to my daughter and my place for my time is here—' you won't mind me, will you?"

"Father, dear!" she gently brushed his hand. "I'm not a child, you know. I'm more competent and more fully informed in the details of this work than you are. I'm engaged in a vital work—nothing less than the translation of the wall decorations of the temple into leave all temporal affairs to my daughter and my place for my time is here—"

"Then, brother, if you'll pardon me, I'll wait until you can add the Missionary. 'I'm engaged in a vital work—nothing less than the translation of the wall decorations of the temple into leave all temporal affairs to my daughter and my place for my time is here—'"

While the girl was engaged in settling him at a table near a window and arranging his books and papers, Seymour, who was a professional taxidermist, was busy with a small animal. Every stick of furniture, he perceived, was fostered under the "wall decorations" of the Indian handwork—rude carvings in wood, garishly painted; red baskets of beautiful design; a bow and arrows, canoe paddles. The floor coverings were skins that had never been in the hands of a professional taxidermist. There was an air of home about the place never to be found in the quarters of the longest established police detachments. In this instance, probably, it was the touch of Ruth, the girl, who was here, and her mother, before he had put into the Fur North in behalf of her supposedly vagrant brother.

He crossed to the fireplace in which cedar logs were in a crackling blaze. His rock was never gazed at, while the brownish stains of iron predominated, but so sprinkled was it with mineral flecks as to look alive where the fire played upon it. On the mantel were a token pole and several pieces of carved wood, a "Mond arrow," a "Mond arrow," a photograph. Either Moira and Ruth were satisfied with existence in the wild, or did not wish to be reminded of civilization.

When Moira rejoined him after having settled her father at his self-assigned task, Seymour was inspecting several specimens of heavy, grayish mineral which lay at the end of the mantel.

"Frog-gold, my father calls that stuff," said the girl. "It's the plague of our Glacier Creek placers, cluttering up our sluices and utterly worthless except in rare instances, such as these."

She ran her eyes over the specimens and picked out one that was shaped curiously like a human hand. In the gray palm was a small nugget of gold, worth possibly a dollar.

"Take this one as a souvenir of your first visit to the mission," she said, and held it out to him.

He had been on the point of asking her for one of the curios, because of a possible connection with the case that had secured to him, so accepted the gift gladly.

"Do you know the real story of the 'Mond arrow'?" he asked. "The matter is all hand-always on his mind."

"I heard it all last night from father and from Ruth," she assured him. "This pretended Mountie who has just been murdered in his inspection of the creek in father's behalf because of his love for my cousin. It's a trouble creek, I tell you, for me."

"This Bart Caswell made friends with a hired gunman that Bonnemort and Kluger had on guard and slipped into the gulch where the claims are located. He showed great skill in keeping under cover and was not discovered until the next afternoon, by which time he had seen more than enough."

"His report," Moira went on, "was worse than Bart had feared. The consequences of the discovery had made all of our people, plying them with liquor and working them heart-rending hours, knew their days of oppression were numbered, and were trying to rid the claims of the treasure in the shortest possible time. Undoubtedly the guard at the gate was as much to keep the slaves in as to protect the treasure."

"I heard it all last night from father and from Ruth," she assured him. "This pretended Mountie who has just been murdered in his inspection of the creek in father's behalf because of his love for my cousin. It's a trouble creek, I tell you, for me."

"There was no doubting her honesty or that it was truthful, as neither her cousin's claim nor her father's was being plundered."

"Did I understand you to say that Bart was discovered up the gulch?" Seymour asked.

"Bonnemort himself discovered him slipping through the brush near one of their long sluice boxes. Moira informed him. 'He would have been on Bart to death had not his partner happened along. Kluger, who evidently is the brains of the combination, didn't want a white man murdered on the works,' as he put it. They brought Bart to the gate where Kluger kicked him into the open, warning him that he'd have no second chance. If over they caught him trying to on them again, they threatened to shoot him on sight."

Seymour recalled the "widow's version, undoubtedly the true one concerning Bart's motives and mental processes regarding the Glacier Creek plunderers. "I'll have to form fell into his hands, he did not see any way of getting the best of them."

Bart's plan from that point was easily deduced. Once in uniform, it had been necessary for him to "stick" in regard to the "Tabor" murder—to checkmate Hardly with any dilution investigation by pretending to make his own. He seemed to have found time, too, for a reassuring visit with Ruth Duperov and perhaps to advance whatever personal game he was playing with the girl.

Yesterday morning the impostor had set out for the guarded canon on Glacier Creek, counting on the magic of the Mounties' uniform, which, for once, had failed to catch him by the spool. Possibly this failure was because the plunderers had recognized the counterfeit. But the sergeant was not ready to credit that explanation.

He preferred to think of it pointed to the degradation of the gold strike out, who would not hesitate to add the degree of a non-commissioned officer to their other crimes.

The sergeant was forced to admit to himself the neatness of Bart's scheme as he now turned it. "I'll stick the uniform 'worked,' the fake sergeant would have taken the B. & K. clean up, ostensibly to hold it until the courts adjudicated the Indians' claims. Once the treasure was in his possession, he would have made off with it over the conveniently southbound steamer that touched at British Columbia port."

A Saskatchewan Artist

Paintings By Jas. Henderson Are Of Surpassing Merit

An elaborate exhibit of paintings by Jas. Henderson, Fort Qu'Appelle, was shown in Regina, October 30 and 31, and November 1, and the work of this Saskatchewan artist won golden opinions from the hundreds who visited Regina College while the exhibit lasted.

The University of Saskatchewan has invited Mr. Henderson to bring thirty or forty pictures to Saskatoon and spend ten days at the "U" while the students and the folk of the northern city make the acquaintance of him and them.

A very special turn which Mr. Henderson's art has taken has been towards portraiture and his unsurpassed paintings of Cree, Blackfoot, Sioux and other tribal chiefs are the admiration of all Canadians who know them. As one of his Indian heads has been at Wembley all summer, it at least has grown familiar to many thousands who are not Canadian.

Landscapes painted in the Qu'Appelle Valley form a large part of the pictures shown, and these include studies at different seasons of the year. Morning and night effects appeal most strongly to Mr. Henderson, and he has several paintings of rare beauty picturing soft mountain moonlight valley-bands; pale amber ends of days; or fresh sweet morning colors of sky and lake.

Morning and night effects appeal most strongly to Mr. Henderson, and he has several paintings of rare beauty picturing soft mountain moonlight valley-bands; pale amber ends of days; or fresh sweet morning colors of sky and lake.

A very special turn which Mr. Henderson's art has taken has been towards portraiture and his unsurpassed paintings of Cree, Blackfoot, Sioux and other tribal chiefs are the admiration of all Canadians who know them. As one of his Indian heads has been at Wembley all summer, it at least has grown familiar to many thousands who are not Canadian.

Amazing Cases Of Longevity

Aged Woman Scrubbed Floors Of House of Parliament Since Confederation Days

With the Calder Act officially coming to an end, and the resultant retiring of several hundred civil servants, amazing cases of longevity were discovered. One woman of over 90 had been scrubbing government floors since Confederation days. Now floors had been laid to replace those worn out, but still she remained.

Since the act went into force in 1920, a total of 1,200 persons have been retired under its provisions.

Africa Wants Rainmaker

Hatfield May Have Chance to Work on Sahara Desert

The fame of Charles N. Hatfield, as a result of his rainmaking undertakings in California, has reached Africa, where he may have an opportunity to try his cunning on the Sahara Desert. The King's County Chamber of Commerce, Hanford, Calif., announced it had received an inquiry concerning Mr. Hatfield from Tunis in French West Africa.

COMMISSIONER SPALDING QUITS TOURIST BUREAU

The third annual meeting of the Tourist Association of Southern Alberta and Southeastern British Columbia was held at Fernie on October 27, 1924.

Delegates were present from the following member towns and cities: Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Macleod, Pincher Creek, Waterton Lakes, Blaimore, Coleman and Fernie. Banff, High River and Cranbrook were, unfortunately, not represented at the meeting.

After the approval of the last year's business, the financial statement was submitted and approved, which showed a balance of $501 to the credit of the association.

The president, Mr. Duff, of Lethbridge, advised the meeting that he had been in communication with the more important cities and towns situated on the Trans-Canada Red route in Saskatchewan and Manitoba with the idea of extending the scope of this association's activities, with the special object in view of concerted effort by the four western provinces to obtain trail improvement on the Trans-Canada highway from Winnipeg west.

After a lengthy discussion by the delegates present a decision was arrived at to organize this association as before with a change of name to the Trans-Canada Red Trail Association, late Tourist Association of Southern Alberta and Southeastern British Columbia, and to have the secretary pay a visit personally to the towns with which Mr. Duff had been in communication and organize a meeting with the purpose of extending our activities as above.

Mr. J. F. Spalding, who has been the commissioner of the association since its inception, tendered his resignation owing to the fact that he was engaging in business in Vancouver, and his resignation was accepted with regret and a vote of thanks tendered to Mr. Spalding for his untiring efforts in the interests of the association.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were:
Hon. President—Col. J. S. Dennis, Montreal.

Hon. Vice-presidents—Hon. Dr. J. S. Sutherland, minister of public works, Victoria, B.C.; Hon. A. Ross, minister of public works, Edmonton, Alberta; minister of public works, Saskatchewan; minister of public works, Manitoba.

President—Dr. O. F. Farnet, Macleod, Alberta.

Vice-president—A. M. Morrison, Coleman, Alberta.

Secretary-treasurer—E. K. Stewart, Fernie, B.C.

Commissioner—Percy Richardson, Medicine Hat, Alberta.

Directors—Mayor G. G. Henderson, Fernie; J. P. Pink, Cranbrook; Donald A. Duff, Lethbridge; Mayor Bossenberry, Pincher Creek; Mayor J. W. McDonald, Macleod; Byron Harmon, Banff; W. Bird, Blaimore; C. B. Brown, Medicine Hat; W. J. Burns, Coleman; Dr. Beddingfield, High River; E. Haug, Waterton Lakes Park.

On motion of the Pincher Creek delegates the association adopted a strong resolution to be presented to the Dominion government urging them to complete the Akamina Highway from Waterton Lakes Park to join up with the proposed highway of the Glacier National Park at the B.C. boundary, north of Lake Kintla. This highway is a very important improvement to Waterton Lakes inasmuch as on its completion motorists will be

Garden of Eden—An Apple—A Canadian Ship

An apple from the Garden of Eden arrived in Montreal this week aboard the Canadian Pacific steamship Melita. With it came the story of history repeated after six thousand years and a glimpse for sordid passengers who had been threatened with lions, trial in the admiralty courts and what not.

The apple came to Montreal with Robert J. Casey who was a passenger aboard the Melita. Mr. Casey is a well-known member of the staff of the Chicago News and among the books of his authorship are "The Land of the Pharaohs," "The Lost Kingdom of Sennar," "The Land of the Pharaohs," and "The Land of the Pharaohs." He was on the way home from a trip through Syria to Damascus and Baghdad for the purpose of gathering material for another book.

Mr. Casey said that the apple was one of a pair brought from Quernah the traditional site of the Garden of Paradise at the foot of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers in Mesopotamia. It was placed in a state-of-the-art Babylonian brick and other relics from the cradle of the human race and the apple was the last of the Melita that the ship had been four days out of the hour. Then it disappeared.

The owner complained to Commander Clegg. "I regret the unfortunate incident," said the Captain. "But of course you must have read the notice on the card given you as you came aboard. The company will not be responsible for apples and other valuables unless they are deposited with the purser. As it stands at present this looks like a matter for the appellate court. But of course we shall see what can be done about it."

Three women named Eve and a man named William Adamson from British Columbia were found on the passenger list and they fell under suspicion immediately. Attempts to establish alibis were as fruitless as they had been before Noah built the ark. Adamson admitted that he was the tenant of a cabin on the same date as that occupied by the apple and he was summoned for an interview with the captain. He was a technical prisoner when the Melita reached Belem Isle and might have been landed in shackles at Quebec had it not been for an unexpected denouement.

A room steward, pentitent but brave appeared before the officers substituting for angels with flaming swords.

"If it's an apple you're looking for I think I can find it for you," he volunteered. "It looked like just an ordinary apple and what with the way the women passengers are always wanting things there was no way of telling about the pantry and thence to the cold storage room. And this morning I discovered it. One of the chefs had been in just before me. But I was determined. I went right out after him. . . . And I found the apple. . . . It's in here."

And with a magnificent air he lifted a napkin from a large pan of apple sauce.

"That's where you're wrong," declared the steward triumphantly. "It's found. As soon as I heard of the howl I traced that apple. I followed its trail back to the pantry and thence to the cold storage room. And this morning I discovered it. One of the chefs had been in just before me. But I was determined. I went right out after him. . . . And I found the apple. . . . It's in here."

Another apple, later found concealed in a locked trunk, will be presented to the Field Museum of Chicago. The tree from which the fruit was picked has recently been designated as the "Tree of Knowledge" by the British Government substantiating an Arab legend of long standing. The document authenticating the claim of Quernah as the site of Eden is a record of court martial, a copy of which was brought back with the apple.

The case in point was that of Thomas Rogers, a sergeant in the British Flying corps stationed in Iraq. Rogers was charged with the crime of having broken a law from the tree of knowledge in the Garden of Eden, and fixed his fine at "one month's pay," a lighter sentence than that visited upon his remote ancestor for a similar offense.

the river, forcing the river water to rise and overflow the banks, thereby causing consternation and sometimes regional ruin.

So has been with the Home Bank. The institution ran along smoothly in this little town during the long summer that have passed, the people going smoothly along in blind trust with the directing forces of the institution whom they innocently presumed to be wise and honest.

They felt, as they felt, that they could not understand how an institution like this, an authorized institution, could be so easily deceived by the actions of either dishonest or dishonest men, or perhaps both. In their stupor, they wondered what government meant in matters of this kind. Their hopes became blighted; their dismay and anxiety increased as they thought of their sense of security which they had yearly built up in little savings, had been rudely taken from them by hands they had trusted through their long years of service to industry.

They were stunned; they saw their years of frugal savings taken from them by the hands of men who they did not think existed by the actions of either dishonest or dishonest men, or perhaps both. Recent government investigations have revealed to us all that the affairs of the Home Bank some years before the time of its collapse had drifted into a lamentable condition; that the financial department of the Dominion government were fully engaged in the critical state of affairs in the institution, but for the sake of best caring for the current exigencies of the war, it was considered expedient by this responsible department of the government to allow this unsafe policy and condition of the demoralized institution to run along to its pending ruin and dissolution.

The minister was acting within the bounds of his authority when this responsibility was taken for allowing the Bank to continue in business, to receive the money of hundreds of depositors.

He may have assumed this attitude in the belief that the threatening conditions of the country which prevailed at the time of his decision would justify the government in assuming the responsibility of the financial consequences that were likely to arise from his action. At any rate, the Minister of Finance, under severe stress, decided that under the circumstances it was more expedient or prudent for him to allow the Home Bank to continue in business, to receive the money of hundreds of depositors.

From this critical decision of the Minister of Finance in war time, the term "Moral obligation" seems to have arisen. We must, therefore, hope and trust that the real meaning of this sentence "Moral obligation" will not in its application to the terms of our subject be misconstrued.

We may, for instance, infer that the Minister of Finance, at the moment he knew that the Home Bank was in an unsound and precarious condition, might have used his authority and closed the Bank. He failed to do so. He hesitated to use this prerogative. I understand, because in his broader knowledge of things, he dreaded that such action might injure the financial prestige of the nation in one of the most trying periods of the war. We cannot blame the Minister of Finance severely for attaching more importance to the welfare and security of the nation as against the temporary welfare or preservation of depositors who had placed their savings in a banking institution.

If the minister was justified in affording this special sense of security to the government in times of stress, the stress that were behind him in this decision should not hesitate about coming forward at this time with their money and savings and that justice is now done to those whose claims were suspended for the purpose of the government's war effort. The financial section of the country.

It has been stated that if the Minister of Finance had exercised his authority over the Home Bank at the time he first knew about the deplorable condition of the Bank, at least 75 per cent of the savings of the people who have deposits in the bank would have been saved. We cannot, in our limited position of understanding, deal with this question to a fuller extent. We therefore desire to drawing our observations to a close, to state that we will in good faith put the final adjustment of the subject in the hands of the Ministers of the Government. In our continued belief that they will see that deserving justice is finally done to the scores of depositors, who entrust all classes of worthy men and women, who have, through many years of struggling, in the financial institutions of the country that they felt they were justified in holding because of the fostering care of their government.

One of the chief aims of successful government may be stated to be that the financial institutions of the country are built on a sound foundation, and during their business enterprises are carefully watched and supervised that public trust and faith in such institutions will always be maintained in that high state of confidence that it is desirable to see exist.

No responsible government can maintain its prestige and hold the confidence of the people if they countenance or allow the integrity of their dependent financial institutions to become a reckless form of either private or public manipulation, for it would be bound to follow that the faith is lost in special or financial institutions so will confidence in the directing forces of government become impaired.

The Premier, in reply, while not pledging himself, gave the deputation every reason for feeling hopeful that the depositors would be taken care of at the next session. He stated that the government would make a declaration of their policy in the matter at the opening of the House early in January.

U.S. HALLOWEEN PARTY
A most successful Halloween party was held in the home of Mrs. A. Penman by the students of the Blairmore high school. The large room was beautifully decorated with orange and black streamers, pumpkins, witches, goblins and cats. Many came in costumes of Spanish lancers, gypsies, clowns, pierrots and prettily decorated paper dresses. After dancing and playing many games, supper was served at eleven o'clock. Misses M. Satoris, M. Ennis, M. Bond, Julia Dutil, and Master M. Evans played the piano, while Masters F. Johnson and E. Hornquist accompanied them or the violin. The party broke up at 1 o'clock. All had a "swell" time.

PATRIOTISM

Patriotism is more than a sentiment; it is a conviction based upon a comprehension of the duties of a citizen, and the determination to loyally perform those duties. Patriotism is love of country, born of knowledge of its history, reverence for its institutions and faith in its future. Patriotism means not only respect for your country's flag but obedience to your country's laws.

New Oil Burners For Pacific Coast.

It is a long way from Alaska to the Clyde, but the recent launching of the Canadian Pacific Coastal S.S. "Princess Kathleen" from the Clydebank yards of John Brown and Company illustrates how the increasing business, traffic and industry of the one has affected the industry of the other. The launching of another vessel, the Princess Marguerite, will further illustrate this, shortly. During the past few years the thousand mile trip to the "land of the Midnight Sun" and return to Vancouver has attracted thousands of tourists from all parts of the world. Many of these, appreciating the industrial and commercial possibilities of this country of vast natural resources, as much as the scenic splendours, have established themselves there and have drawn others round them, each of whom plays a part in the further development of the land. The same thing applies to the Yukon, so that, especially in the Summer, and in the Fall when the big game and fish are fair sport, there is a constant coming and going on the Princess steamers that the "Inland Passage".

Next Year there will, it is expected, be a demand for a still more frequent service. In response the Canadian Pacific will recruit from its "Triangular" service, and the new steamers will take up the service thus relieved between Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle. This route is also becoming increasingly popular, the present call being for vessels which are able to transport the automobiles of those hundreds of tourists who are finding the glories of Vancouver Island well worth while.

The new vessels, twin screw and oil-burning, will be, when completed, the largest and fastest ships operating between the three ports, being capable of sustaining a speed of 23½ knots. Altogether there are five decks, four of which are given over to the use of the passengers, while a large space on the main deck has been provided for the transport of motor cars and other freight. Accommodation is arranged for 325 first-class night passengers in two and three berth cabins, and for over one thousand day passengers. A special feature of the accommodation is the provision of 17 large rooms on the promenade and upper decks, having private bathrooms attached and 22 two-berth cabins, on the boat deck, having private shower baths. The accommodation throughout has been arranged with the greatest care for the safety and comfort of the passengers and is of a uniform standard throughout, while the accommodation for the officers and crew is substantially better than is required by regulations. Both vessels will be placed in service early in 1925.

PRESS WILL BOOST ALBERTA RESOURCES

CALGARY, Nov. 11.—Edmonton was selected as the 1925 convention city of the Alberta Press Association by the executive which met in Calgary Saturday morning. The date has not yet been set but the meetings will probably be held in July. It is expected that following its usual custom the B.C. Press Association will hold its convention in Edmonton at the same time.

The executive decided that taking stock of Alberta would be the keynote of the association's work during the coming year, and that, at the next convention, steps would be taken to bring more directly to the public's attention, the present position, the natural resources and the potential development of Alberta.

Those present at the meeting here were President L. D. Nesbitt, Bassano Mail; F. Turnbull, Red Deer Advertiser; John M. Irvine, Edmonton Journal; John Torrance, Lethbridge Herald; and John MacKenzie, Strathmore Standard.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION HERE; GREAT SUCCESS

The annual convention of the teachers of the Macleod Inspectorate was held at Blairmore, in the Union church, on Friday last, November 7th. Seventy teachers were in attendance at the conference and there might have been many more, but owing to the inclemency of the weather, the teachers from the rural districts were unable to present.

The Rev. W. T. Young, pastor of the Union church, opened the convention with a very appropriate invocation. Listening, one felt the honor and responsibility attached to the teachers' profession.

Mr. J. E. Gillis, deputy Mayor, welcomed the teachers to Blairmore. He emphasized the enduring character of the teachers' work, stating that when the teachers had passed to his or her reward, the fruits of their labor remained.

Mr. L. Dutil, chairman of the School Board, extended the welcome of the Board and, among other things, stressed the need of close harmony between the School Boards and teachers.

A letter from a fraternal delegate, Mr. Frank Wheatley, president of the Alberta Federation of Labor, was received in which Mr. Wheatley expressed his deep regret at being unable to be present at the convention.

Mr. John Stevenson, president of the convention, gave a very able address, which was greatly appreciated. He treated very lucidly and concisely many of the problems confronting the teaching body.

Miss Blanche E. Douglas, of Blairmore, read a very instructive paper on "Language Work in Grade 1." Mr. Morgan, school inspector, in replying, classed her paper as a splendid solution of the problems of language work in the primary grades.

Mr. John Burnett, general secretary-treasurer of the Alberta Teachers' Alliance, also addressed the teachers. He dwelt on teaching from the professional standpoint and very ably showed that the Alliance was the mutual friend of the school trustees and teachers. He assured the trustees that the teachers would be efficient, that they would live up to their obligations and this demanded that trustees treat the teachers fairly. He showed that often it was the case that people glibly criticized the teachers unfairly, even to the extent of making slanderous statements. Mr. Burnett told that through the courts the Alliance had demanded and obtained apologies due teachers from individuals and school boards. He stated that he liked harmony but he disdained the harmony obtained when it was of the matted-fist order.

Mr. Thorsen, of Blairmore, read a very useful paper on "Citizenship."

Miss Bull, of Pincher Creek, ably assisted by Misses Robertson and Seville and Mr. Tucker, gave a most interesting demonstration of rhythmic writing. The keenest interest was displayed by the teachers in this rather new method of handling the subject. The greatest credit is due the staff of the Pincher Creek school for this valuable contribution to the programme.

An exhibition of Morris Dancing, by the pupils of Bellevue school, was conducted by Miss Hulme and the convention registered most emphatically its appreciation.

The high school section passed a resolution deprecating the present method of having teachers preside over the final examinations of their students.

The organization of the 1925 convention was the final business of the gathering and the following officers were elected: Mr. J. Morgan, Inspector, Hon. President; Mr. C. V. Asselstine, Bellevue, President; Mr. D. M. J. Conway, Blairmore, Vice President and Miss Selton, Hillcrest, Secretary. Treasurer. An executive of five members was also appointed.

The Principal and Staff of the Blairmore schools entertained the visitors at a dance in the evening. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The high school students showed their usual splendid co-operation with their teachers and were a big factor in making the dance one of the most successful held in Blairmore. Mason's orchestra supplied the music. The total receipts of the dance amounted to $216.20.

We are requested to state that as a result of the dance, the pupils of Blairmore school are now the owners of an up-to-date gramophone. The

Holiday Greeting Cards

Among the pleasant annual customs prevailing in modern times is the practice and custom of sending out personal greeting cards. These cards many times serve to link the past with the present and rekindle the old spark of affection in those with whom we have in former days held close and friendly communion.

Then, There Is the Other Side—

From the purely personal greeting, the amenities of modern business have extended the custom to the sending of greetings by business concerns to patrons and an exchange between the business houses themselves.

Business men who have for months been enjoying the patronage of residents of the district find it quite the thing to thank their friends for their patronage and wish them the greeting of the season.

Next Comes Our Side—

We have stocked the greatest variety of popular priced Christmas and Personal Greeting Cards ever carried by any country office in Alberta. These cards are all this year's stock of latest designs and they are marked down so that the wage earners can afford to buy nicely printed cards at a fair price. These cards in many instances take the place of presents and are economical to use. Call and look over our samples or phone in and we will call with our samples.

The Blairmore Enterprise

Principal, Staff and Pupils wish to thank all those who co-operated in making the dance such a big success.

The Prince of Wales who has won so many friends in this country during his recent visit by his gracious ways and democratic spirit, is president of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. There are certain English sports we have to remember, however, that do not yet strike, the average Englishman as they do the average American.

We have it on what we are warranted in believing is wholly trustworthy authority, that the promoters of a rodeo exhibition in a town in Washington organized themselves into a humane society to enable them to screen the cruelties of which they were guilty back of the assertion that they were acting with the full approval of a humane society. This isn't the first time that that supposedly clever prince of darkness has tried to transform himself into an angel of light, or at least to wear the livery of heaven.

MEETING OF DIRECTORS OF BLAIRMORE ARENA, LIMITED

At a meeting of the directors of the Blairmore Arena, Limited, held in the office of the Crows' Nest Pass Motors on November 3rd, it was decided to engage Mr. E. Pepper, late of Canmore, as ice-maker and manager for the coming ice season.

Dr. J. Olivier and L. L. Morgan were re-elected President and Vice President respectively and J. R. Gresham was re-appointed Secretary-Treasurer.

A vote of thanks was extended to the President, Vice President and Secretary for their work during the past year.

It was decided to instal a hot water plant in the rink for flooding purposes and the president and vice president were authorized to have said plant installed.

The price of season tickets for skating were set at $1.00 for children up to 16; $3.00 for ladies, and boys 16 to 18 years; $5.00 for gentlemen; and $10.00 for a family ticket; this being a decided reduction over last year's prices.

It was then decided to approach the town council, asking them for a grant similar to that given by them in previous years.

After authorizing the proper officials to do all banking business, etc., the meeting adjourned.

LADIES' CURLING CLUB

A meeting of the Ladies' Curling Club was held in the Greenhill hotel on Tuesday afternoon; when arrangements were made for the coming season.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. R. Green; Vice President, Mrs. W. Bird; Sec.-Treas., Mrs. J. E. Gillis. To serve on the executive with the above named were Mrs. John Kerr and Mrs. F. M. Thompson.

It was decided to carry on similar to last year. The skips appointed for the season were Mesdames W. Bird, J. R. Wilson, H. Burns and A. R. Granger, while Mrs. Kerr will have charge of an extra rink providing it is necessary to form one.

The ladies are as enthusiastic as ever and if present appearances count they will no doubt be equal to any rinks put forward by other towns.

A large number attended the Liberal meeting at the Greenhill Hotel on Thursday afternoon. The delegates appointed to attend the conference to be held in the Palliser Hotel, Calgary, on November 27th, were A. M. Morrison, of Coleman, and J. E. Gillis, of Blairmore, honorary delegates; Geo. Kellogg, Coleman; A. M. Dunsmore, Lundbreck; Archie McLeod, Blairmore; S. J. Lamey, Bellevue, and Frank Lote, Hillcrest, while L. L. Morgan and Dr. J. Olivier were appointed alternate delegates.

Mr. J. Anderson, at one time resident of Frank and conductor of the first and finest orchestras in the district, stopped off here for a few days this week.

Our Natural Resources And The Cost Of Production

In the course of one of the series of addresses made by him during his tour of Western Canada, Premier Maclean King said: "The only way to solve problems is to reduce, if possible, the cost of production—the cost of living."

No one is likely to take exception to this statement except that many people will say that the qualifying words, "if possible," should be eliminated. Few things are impossible of achievement if men are determined in their efforts to reach any desired end. So far as bringing about a reduction in the costs of production in Canada, and therefore in the cost of living, there can be no question but that it is possible. As R. J. R. says, it can be done.

But it is not going to be done if such a large percentage of Canadian manufacturers continue to pursue their present policy of importing enormous quantities of raw materials, or semi-manufactured articles, for use in their finished products, and which could be obtained from Canada's own great wealth of natural resources and the whole process of manufacture carried out in Canada instead of only a part of it.

Canada's adverse balance of trade with the United States is largely made up of importations by Canadian manufacturers of materials and supplies which could be obtained and produced within Canada. Too many Canadian manufacturers prefer to follow the "easy way" of importation instead of utilizing a portion of their own capital in the development for use of the natural resources of this Dominion. As a result both the cost of production and of living is too high.

And then these finished products of Canadian factories, containing a large percentage in many instances of United States materials, are protected by heavy Customs duties against competition by similar articles made wholly in the United States. At the same time hundreds of these factories, Canadian so-called, because they are located on Canadian soil, are nothing but branch factories of United States concerns erected on this side of the line in order to escape payment of Customs duties and to secure the benefits of the Canadian Preferential Tariff in Empire markets. In other words, in the case of hundreds of factories Canadian citizens are paying abnormally high prices because of a Customs tariff maintained to protect these United States offshoots from their parent concerns across the line.

Costs of production and of living in Canada will begin to tumble when Canada begins to make full use of its own natural resources, but not until then. Canadians cannot expect lower costs so long as their own manufacturers go on importing raw materials and semi-manufactured articles—upon which, of course, profits are first levied as well as transportation and tariff charges—instead of developing and making use of our own natural resources. Even in the case of many of our natural products now being developed, they are shipped in a raw state to the United States and brought back in a semi-manufactured or completed state, instead of Canada's own capitalists and industrial leaders providing for their complete manufacture in this country.

United States' owners of branch factories in Canada are naturally quite content to bring in raw or semi-manufactured materials from the United States, and get the bulk of the duty related to them when such materials are used in producing a finished article in this country. But Canadian manufacturers should not be content, although most of them appear to be.

Inasmuch as the development and production for use of our own natural resources offers the only sure method of reducing production and living costs, and also presents the only means through which necessary wealth is to be produced to ultimately pay off Canada's great war debt and thus reduce the heavy taxation burden, which, by the way, is also a big factor in keeping up production and living costs, it would appear to be the duty of the Canadian Government and Parliament to immediately tackle the problem of effecting a rapid development of these Canadian resources.

Instead of allowing heavy rebates on United States and other foreign materials when used in manufactures in Canada, why not try the plan of largely reducing the Customs protection afforded all manufacturers where the article manufactured is not made wholly out of Canadian materials. This would have the effect of providing real protection for bona fide Canadian goods, prove a stimulus to employment, and compel United States branch factories in this country to use Canadian raw materials.

Most important of all it would assist to bring about the development of our own natural resources, which development, let it be emphasized, is essential to the economic independence and national progress and prosperity of this Dominion.

Prospective Land Buyers

Americans Purchasing Lands in Northern Agricultural Districts Accompanied by agents of the colonization department of the Canadian National Railways from St. Paul, two parties of American land buyers came to visit the Humboldt and Tisdale districts, where they will inspect Canadian National lands with a view of settling. This is only one of several parties brought in this year by the colonization department, all of whom bought lands, either from the railway or private owners. These people came from Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota.

The Skyscraper Hospital

Patients On Upper Floors Will Get Country Air
Healing the sick in St. Luke's Hospital, Chicago, will go under conditions equalled only in the country or in the mountains, although the hospital is located in one of the most congested business districts of the city and on the busiest boulevard.
Because it is a skyscraper hospital towering 19 stories, the tallest in the world, patients treated in rooms above the tenth floor will escape the odors, noise and flies which inhabit the lower stratum of air. Thus the convalescent will find himself in an atmosphere as favorable as the resort retreat.

New British Plane Best Ever Built

Two Years Ahead of Other Nations Says Expert

"I have been astounded at the result of the two-seater light aeroplane competition," said a member of the air council and one of the greatest aviation experts in England. "This branch of aviation was two years ahead of any other nation."

"No more efficient aeroplane than the Beardmore aeroplane (which won the chief prize) has ever left the earth," stated Lt.-Col. W. A. Britton, the aeronautical consulting engineer, who kept the records of the competitions.

"Margin of speed is a very good standard of efficiency in an aeroplane, and this machine has a very wide margin. It can fly at about 90 miles an hour. It can rise from the ground quickly and pull up slowly."

"With a two-gallon tin of petrol a light aeroplane will take two people from London to Eastbourne in an hour."

Canadian History In France

Formation of Historical Society at Versailles Marked By Interesting Event

Descendants of the great Frenchmen who made early Canadian history were the guests of Sir Campbell Stuart, managing director of the Times Publishing Company, at a luncheon given in the Hall of Battles of the Versailles Palace to celebrate the formation of the "Canadian History Society in France."

The society was formed in order to further the collection from French families of documents bearing on Canadian history.

The guests included Senator Raoul Dandaneau, representing the Government of Quebec; Duc de Levis-Mirepoix, president of the new society and a descendant of Chevalier de Levis, who succeeded Montcalm in command of the French forces; Marguerite de Montcalm, a descendant of General Montcalm; the Duke of Connaught; a delegation of persons prominent socially in Great Britain; and many French Governmental officials and all literary persons.

Hon. H. S. Field, representing the Canadian Government, thanked French Premier Herriot responded on behalf of France, and the Duke of Connaught delivered a message from King George.

Fish For Saskatchewan Lakes
Fifty-four lakes in Province are stocked with fish this season.

Parent fish and fry were distributed among 54 lakes in the province of Saskatchewan during the present summer from provincial hatcheries, and reports now being received indicate that the distribution was successfully accomplished and the fish are thriving.

Fish have never before been so widely distributed in the province. Among the fish distributed were over 20,000, 900 whitefish; 17,000,000 perch; over 7,000,000 Thurlow Cisco; and over 3,000,000 pickerel.

Seed Grain Survey

Reports To Be Made Regarding Shortages in Seed Grain

Announcement has been made by the Winnipeg representative of the Dominion seed branch to the effect that a survey is being commenced to find out where the shortages are in oats and barley for seed and where there are surpluses. Reports will be made regarding seed wheat at the same time, but wholesale shortages are not expected in this grain as with the coarser cereals. W. F. Blakeman, who makes the announcement, has just returned from a conference of the branch officials in Ottawa, and he states that arrangements are going forward with all speed, in view of the situation arising out of early frosts and bad weather.

Declaring that "the government of the world has passed into America's hands," Cecil Roberts, British war correspondent and editor of the Nottingham Evening News, in an address at Chicago added:

"All we ask of you is not to act too quickly."

"You are going to have in America a new phase—phase in which the mental and intellectual will clash with the physical and industrial," he said. "If they cannot combine without physical struggle, God alone can save the nation."

"England and America stand as the last two units in the trial of civilization," he added. "Our England's sun is about to set—but it will be a glorious sunset."

Liquor Smuggling To Cease

Take Steps To Prevent Illicit Liquor Supplies Going to U.S. From Alberta

If bordering states in Uncle Sam's land are getting their illicit liquor supply from Lethbridge and other Southern Alberta towns where liquor vendor stores are located, their supply is likely to be cut off to a large extent as a result of efforts of Commissioner Dinning and the staff of the liquor control branch.

His department he said was not in business to supply liquor to those illegally running it into parts where liquor may be sold only illegally and a drive to stop it, as far as possible, is now on.

Naval Wars In Future
Nations May Stake Everything On the Issue of a Single Battle

Naval strength, in the last analysis, must be measured as "the blow a ship can deliver at long range." Secretary Wilbur de-fined in a radio Naval Day address at Washington. Efforts to acquire a "homogeneous fleet" for the United States will be unavailing, he asserted, unless the existing machinery on United States battleships is improved to permit all main batteries to reach an average maximum elevation.

"Subject to the construction of the treaty for the limitation of armaments, we are asking Congress to authorize the necessary changes to permit this elevation," the secretary said. "We anticipate that future naval wars will be fought in great fleet actions, where a nation will stake everything upon the issue of a single battle."

New Treatment For Diphtheria
Claim Disease Can Be Stamped Out In One Generation

After years of study and experimenting, diphtheria and scarlet fever have at last been conquered by the medical world; Dr. Abraham Zingher, New York, said in an address at Milwaukee.

"A new and harmless toxin, called 'diphtheria toxin,' has been developed for the treatment of diphtheria," Dr. Zingher said. "This Toxin gives immunity to those treated with it. So far as is known this immunity is permanent. A child one year old can be immunized for life."

Swine Breeders' Competition
Prizes Go To Manitoba and Saskatchewan Entries

First and second prizes for the best pair of hogs in the competition of the Canadian Swine Breeders' Association, held at Brandon, was won by the estate of Sir William Van Horne, East Selkirk, Man. One Saskatchewan winner was featured in this competition. Ninth prize was awarded to the department of public works, Regina.

Prior to the judging, the first lecture under the Manitoba Swine Breeders' bacon hog short course, was held. J. Wilde, of the Dominion livestock branch at Ottawa, opened the session by a demonstration lecture on "Cured Wiltshire Sides."

Canada's Trade With Cuba

Received Over Two Million Dollars For Potatoes Exported Last Year

Potatoes are an article of import into Cuba in which Canadians are interested. In round numbers, Cuba imports yearly about four million bushels of potatoes of which almost one-half come from the United States, with Canada's sales a close second. The total value of these imports last year was $5,482,283. The value of the imports from the United States was $2,816,385, and the value of those from Canada was $2,449,054. Belgium was third, with $66,265; Holland fourth, with $37,409; Great Britain, fifth, with $36,885; and the Canary Islands sixth, with $32,655.

BALDWIN HAS FORMED HIS NEW CABINET

London.—Stanley Baldwin, the new premier, has lost no time in drawing up the list of his new cabinet, which was submitted to, and approved by, the King.

The appointments announced are as follows:

Chancellor of Exchequer.—Winston Churchill.

Secretary for India.—Earl of Birkenhead.

Colonial.—Lieut.-Col. L. C. M. S. Amery.

Foreign Secretary.—Austin Chamberlain.

President of the Council and Leader of the House of Lords.—Marquis Curzon.

Privy Seal.—Marquis of Salisbury.

Lord Chancellor.—Viscount Cave.

Home Secretary.—Sir William Joynson-Hicks.

Agriculture.—Edward Frederick Lushington.

First Lord of the Admiralty.—William Oliver Bragg.

War.—Sir Laming Worthington Evans.

Air Minister.—Sir Samuel Hoare.

Health.—Neville Chamberlain.

Labor.—Sir Arthur Steel Maitland.

Board of Trade.—Sir Philip Lloyd Greame.

Education.—Lord Eustace Percy.

Secretary for Scotland.—Sir John Gilmour.

Attorney-General.—Sir Douglas H. Hogg.

Mr. Baldwin's official position will be the Prime Minister, First Lord of the Treasury and Leader of the House of Commons.

On the whole, the new cabinet is likely to be well received by the country, but Premier Baldwin supplied two first-class surprises, the first, in killing the fatted calf for Churchill, a newcomer to the ranks of Conservatism, who he deserted 20 years ago, and the second, which is generally held to be a consequence of the first, in the exclusion of Sir Robert Stevenson Horne.

No Truth in Report

Denied That Princess Mary Will Visit Canada Next Year

London.—The lady-in-waiting to Princess Mary informed the Canadian press that there was absolutely no truth in the report that Princess Mary probably would visit Canada next year.

The report that the Princess probably would pay a visit to Canada in 1925 arose in connection with the return of the Prince of Wales from the Dominion recently, when it was said that His Royal Highness had intimated that his sister would likely be going out next year.

Collect Insurance On Loss Of Jewelry

New York.—It was reported in insurance circles here that payment of $15,000 to Lord and Lady Mountbatten and Mrs. J. S. S. Cohen, for the loss of jewelry stolen at Mrs. Cohen's home at Sandpoint during the Prince of Wales' visit there, had been ordered. Lloyd's and the Alliance Insurance Company, it is said, made the payments which were ordered after the Prince's arrival in London. No trace of the thief was found.

Aftermath Of War

Boy-Empress Of China Has Taken Leave Of Imperial City

Peking.—In consequence of the decision of Peng Yu-Hsiang, head of the new Chinese military regime, to take over the imperial city, in accordance with the Manchurian abdication agreement, the "boy-emperor" Hsuan Tung, and entire family have taken up their residence at the palace of Prince Chun, the former regent.

The Manchurian dynasty was overthrown as a result of a revolution which broke out in 1911. The emperor abdicated on February 12, 1912, being guaranteed favorable treatment and a pension of $4,000,000 a year by the new republic. Hsuan Tung, the former emperor, has been living in the imperial palace in the "forbidden city" since his abdication, but his residence has long been in arrears. On several occasions it has been reported that Hsuan had been forced to sell valuable heirlooms of his family in order to meet expenses.

The Manchurian dynasty was overthrown as a result of a revolution which broke out in 1911. The emperor abdicated on February 12, 1912, being guaranteed favorable treatment and a pension of $4,000,000 a year by the new republic. Hsuan Tung, the former emperor, has been living in the imperial palace in the "forbidden city" since his abdication, but his residence has long been in arrears. On several occasions it has been reported that Hsuan had been forced to sell valuable heirlooms of his family in order to meet expenses.

The Pythian Sisters are holding a whist drive in the Lodge Hall on Wednesday, November 19th, commencing at 8 p.m. sharp. Six prizes and good refreshments. Everybody welcome.

The Blairmore Veterans have now moved into their new quarters next door East of The Enterprise. The Vets will have a far better building for club purposes and will soon install equipment to enable members to pass more pleasant evenings.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Catherine Bevan, who died on Tuesday last, took place on Saturday. The body was taken to the Union church where a short service was held, followed by interment in the Union Cemetery. Rev. W. T. Young officiated.

Fred Lees, the Coleman athlete, won the Lethbridge Herald Thanksgiving Day marathon race on Monday last. Fred came first of six participants and his time for three miles was 18 min. 41.4-5 sec. This same Fred Lees won the Calgary Herald marathon last year and his prospects for the front ranks of marathon runners in Canada seems assured. Congratulations Fred!

The death occurred on Saturday last, at the Central Alberta Sanatorium, Calgary, of Miss Bella Prentiss, aged 19, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss, who at one time were residents of Frank and were well known throughout the district. The remains were laid to rest in Calgary on Monday. Mrs. Dan Reese, of Blairmore, is a sister, and Robert Prentiss, who is also well known here, is a brother.

The Bellevue hockey club have decided to drop out of the Crows' Nest Hockey League for the coming season, according to reports just to hand. This certainly would be a heavy blow to hockey enthusiasts as the class of hockey put up by Bellevue made the league fixtures the most interesting games of the hockey season. We certainly hope Bellevue will change their minds and come in with the rest for a big season.

Mr. A. Dube will open up a first-class radio shop in the building lately occupied by the Blairmore Veterans. This shop will be known as the Crows' Nest Radio Shop and Mr. Dube will handle all the necessary equipment for installing radios. A loud speaking set will be installed in the shop shortly and the public will be invited to listen-in and inspect the workings of these wonderful machines.

The new Elks Lodge will be instituted here on Wednesday, November 26th. The officers of the Fernie Lodge will be in charge of the initiation. Dr. J. L. Gibson and Sam Savage, from Calgary, will be here as representatives from Grand Lodge. Jack McCoubrey, Grand Organizer, states that he has almost reached the one hundred membership mark. Full details of the institution of the Lodge will be given in next week's Enterprise.

Hockey and curling are the two most interesting topics among the fans just now.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Swann were in town over the week-end, visiting Mrs. Swann's father, Mr. F. S. Kafoury.

Mr. Rex Dillingham, of the Innisfail Province, is spending a few days in town, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gresham.

Booster tags will be put on sale by the Intermediate Hockey Club on November 29th. Save your nickels for this cause. Tags will be 50 cents.

Senator H. C. Lodge, for several years the leading statesman of the United States, passed away on Sunday at his home in Cambridge, Mass.

In their local column the Trail News announces: "Tom Mix and Jack Dempsey at the Liberty tonight." Since when did Tom Mix take up championship boxing?

Edith Grace, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gilmar, of Cowley, was married, to Edward J. Thompson on Thursday, November 7. The Rev. Biddle, of St. Adam's church officiated.

The Coleman Ladies' Hockey Club has reorganized for the coming season and expect to have a crack team ready for the ice when the time comes. How about a Blairmore ladies team? We have the material, why not organize?

Mrs. Robert Gray and family returned from Scotland on Thursday last. Accompanying Mrs. Gray was Mr. Gray's mother and sister, Mrs. G. Meffan, who will also make their home here. Mr. Meffan is employed with Bob Gray at the Plunkett & Savage warehouse here.

The ladies of the I.O.D.E. realized upward of $92.00 from the sale of poppies around Thanksgiving Day. The proceeds will be turned over to the Memorial Fund, which the ladies have been accumulating since the formation of the local branch. There is now almost $600.00 in this fund and we may expect that in the near future a Memorial will be erected in Blairmore.

The Blairmore Enterprise has the best selection of Christmas and personal greeting cards ever brought to this district, and they are popularly priced for those who heretofore have felt that such cards were too expensive. Call in and see this line and leave your order, so as to ensure your requirements to send to friends near and far. We can furnish you a better card, printed in our own office with greeting of your own choice, at less cost than any medium-priced stock card on the market.
